Locations

The railways are all in the north west of Romania. This map shows the places we will visit from Cluj in the centre of the map and showing the area in relation to Timisoara and Brasov. We don't plan to visit Covasna on this trip as they are not operating the top section at Comandau nor using steam while we are in Romania. In 2019, we would have needed to visit on the first weekend of the month to achieve this.

Cluj Napoca

We start in Cluj. This is what CNN has to say about it:

Incidentally, it's the birthplace of Unitarianism. While studying at Manchester University, I stayed at the Unitarian College, Manchester. These days

Unitarians are known as very liberal Christians but the main difference seems to be that they believe in God but not the Trinity or that God, The Holy Spirit and Christ are one. We hope to have dinner on Friday night in the former Unitarian Bishop's Palace. See:

Blog 2 may also appear prior to our first narrow gauge steam ride on 10 August.
